Lee Ann Brady, D.M.D.

Learning Objectives

- Understanding composite materials for layering
- Composite Layering Technique
- Anterior Matrices
- Finishing & Polishing

Course Description

Direct composite can be a conservative, durable and beautiful anterior material. We will discuss the variety of materials and techniques available today to take your composites to the next level so your team and patients are raving about the esthetic results. The lecture will compare total etch to self etch techniques and distinguish the risks and benefits of each. The concept of layering for ultimate beauty and color control will be covered and techniques for simplifying direct composite veneers and class four restorations will be presented.

One hour continuing education credits will be given.
